E. Tariff Format

1. Page Numbering

Page numbers appear in the upper right-hand corner of the page. Pages are numbered sequentially. When a new page is added between existing pages with whole numbers, a decimal is added. For example, a new page added between pages 10 and 11 would be 10.1.

2. Page Revision Numbers

Revision numbers also appear in the upper right-hand corner of the page. These numbers are used to determine the most current page version on file. For example, the 4th revised page 10 cancels the 3rd revised page 10. A revision may be suspended by the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission for further review and consideration. Consult supplements for the page currently in effect.

3. Numbering Sequence

There are nine levels of alphanumeric coding. Each level is subservient to its next higher level. The following is an example of the numbering sequence used in this tariff.

TARIFF INFORMATION

F. Supplements

If a tariff page is suspended, it cannot be revised until the suspension is ended. In the meantime, a new filing that would normally revise a suspended page can be made by issuing a supplement. The supplement amends the existing revision of the tariff page and does not affect the suspended page. A supplement may also be suspended because it is subject to the same review and acceptance by the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission as any other filing.

G. Explanation of Symbols - Coding of Tariff Revisions

Revisions to this tariff are coded through the use of symbols. These symbols appear in the right-hand margin of the page. The symbols and their meanings are:

- R - to signify reduction.
- I - to signify increase.
- C - to signify changed regulation.
- T - to signify a change in text but no change in rate or regulation.
- S - to signify reissued matter.
- M - to signify matter relocated without change.
- N - to signify new rate or regulation.
- D - to signify discontinued rate or regulation.
- Z - to signify a correction.

Other marginal codes are used to direct the tariff reader to a footnote for specific information. Codes used for this purpose are lowercase letters of the alphabet (e.g., x, y and z). These codes may appear beside the page revision number in the page header or in the right-hand margin opposite specific text.

SECTION 3 - RATE DETERMINATION

3.1. MILEAGE MEASUREMENTS

3.1.1. General

To determine the airline mileage between any two AT&T Central Offices proceed as follows: (T)

- A. Obtain the "V" and "H" coordinates for each AT&T Central Office. (T)
- B. Obtain the difference between the "V" coordinates of the two points. Obtain the difference between the "H" coordinates. (T)

Note: The difference is always obtained by subtracting the smaller coordinates from the larger coordinate.

- C. Square each difference obtained in B. above. (T)
- D. Add the squares of the "V" difference and the "H" difference obtained in B. above. (T)
- E. Divide the sum of the squares obtained in D. above by 10. Round to the next higher whole number if any fraction is obtained. (T)
- F. Obtain the square root of the result obtained in E. This is the airline distance in miles (fractional miles are rounded to the next higher whole number). (T)

3.2. RATE APPLICATION

3.2.1. General

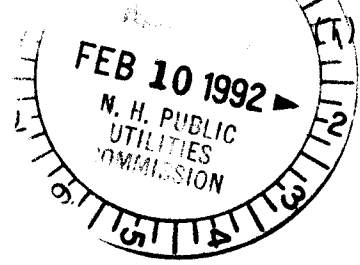

The charges for 56/64 Kbps Switched Digital Service consist of (T) usage charges.

3.2.2. Rate Determination

Usage charges for 56/64 Kbps Switched Digital Service depend on (T) whether a call is between 56/64 Kbps Switched Digital Service (T)
AT&T Central Offices within the state, or between access lines within 56/64 Kbps Switched Digital Service AT&T Central Offices. (T)
Mileage rates vary by the airline mileage between AT&T Central Offices (as specified in Section 3.1.) and by time of day and day (N) of week that a call is placed (as specified in Section 3.2.3.). (N)

A. Calls Between Access Lines - The rates for a call between access (T) lines within the same 56/64 Kbps Switched Digital Service AT&T (T)

(T)

- C. Applicable rates are determined by (1) airline mileage (see Mileage Measurements as specified in Section 3.1.), (2) time of day and day of week rates at the originator's calling location (i.e., day rates, evening rates, night and weekend rates, and holiday rates), and (3) initial period and additional period rates.
- D. The initial period is the initial 30 seconds, or fraction thereof, of a call. The additional period is the chargeable time for a call continuing beyond the initial period, and begins when the initial period ends. Additional period rates apply to each additional six-seconds, or fraction thereof. For the initial period, the rate applicable at the start of chargeable time at the calling station applies. For the additional period(s), the rate applicable is that rate which is in effect at the calling station when the additional period(s) begin. That is, if chargeable time begins during the evening rate period, the evening rate applies to the initial 30 seconds and to any six-second additional increments that the call continues during that rate period. If the call continues into a different rate period, the appropriate rates from the new rate period apply to any additional six-second increments occurring in the new rate period.
- E. When the computed mileage charge results in a charge expressed in mills or a fraction of a mill, the charge will be rounded down to the next whole cent if the fractional charge is less than 5 mills (e.g., $4.254 would be rounded down to $4.25), and rounded up to the next whole cent when the fractional charge is 5 mills or greater (e.g., $4.255 would be rounded up to $4.26).
